QUEER STYLES IN HATS.

The Kokoschnik of Russia and Winged Headdress of Alsace.

In Russia the maiden who is fancy free may dress her locks as she wishes. But not so the wife. She must hide her hair. So, as a recompense for this sacrifice, she dons a hat which may well be called weird. In shape it is not unlike a bishop's mitre, and it is adorned as the fancy or the purse of the wearer dictates. Gold, silver and even precious stones have been used in decorating this kokoschnik, as it is called.

In certain parts of Spain a hat similar to the Russian style is worn. Particularly is this popular with the dancers among the Toledo peasantry, although it must be very hot and uncomfortable for this purpose.

The Dutch maiden of Amsterdam plus her faith—and her head—to a hat which resembles in shape an inverted flowerpot. It may not be the style most suited to her round, placid face, but she would not change it for the latest "thing" in millinery.

On the island of Marken, in the Zuyder Zee, the fashionable hat is again of the mitre shape, but with the addition of wide, flapping wings. Farther north, in Norway, a maiden on her bridal day dons a traditional erection which can best be likened to an eccentric castle.

In the province of Alsace-Lorraine the women wear huge winged head-dresses. The wonderful thing about the Alsatian hat is—how is it supported? Are there concealed wires? And how does it "stay on" in a high wind? London Answers.

THE HUMAN SKIN.

Its Evolution Forecasts the Coming of an Ultra White Race.

Professor Daniel Berthelot, eminent French specialist, declares that the skin of the human race has undergone great changes since our primitive ancestors. He finds notably that, while the whitest of modern skins reflect almost all the colors of the spectrum, the skins of the more primitive races absorb the colors of higher and finer vibrations and only reflect the stronger colors at the spectrum's lower end.

For instance, the skins of the primitive negro races reflected practically no colors at all. The red skinned races reflected only the reds at the lower end of the spectrum and the so called yellow races only as far as the yellow in its center. The white skins of the races of today are able to reflect not only the blues, but also the violets at the top of the visible spectrum, although the strength and clearness of the reflection vary with each individual skin.

But no skin has been found so far capable of reflecting the ultra violet rays, which, although present in almost all light, vibrate at a rate too high to be visible to the human eye.

It is therefore believed that the past evolution of the human skin foreshadows the existence in the distant future of an ultra white race, which, in addition to its other capacities, will have a skin capable of reflecting the invisible ultra violet rays.—Indianapolis News.

Interrupted the Firing.

It is told of Lieutenant General Leonidas Polk of the Confederate Army that he rode into the midst of an Indiana regiment late in the evening at Perryville. He had observed a body of men firing upon his troops and supposed that those firing were Confederates and were shooting by mistake. He rode over that way to order the firing to cease and found himself confronted by a Hoosier colonel. General Polk wore a dark blouse and the dusk of the evening saved him. He was asked as to his identity when he ordered the firing to stop, but, making a threat to show them who he was, rode away. As soon as he reached a copse of wood he put spurs to his horse and rapidly drew away.
